

America 250: Connecting Coins With the Land(s) They Represent

Dear Parents,

As you know, your child is participating in the America 250: Connecting Coins With the Land(s) They Represent Project. The ANA would like to document on social media, in The Numismatist, and on our website some of the experiences occurring. In order to use images, (providing images is optional), the ANA needs permission to use these photos in our promotions and celebrate the work in this project.

Operating Policy

To ensure a safe and healthy learning environment, we ask that the parent/guardian AND student sign this form acknowledging the following:

- A parent can request that a social media post be removed by contacting the ANA Education Director
- There shall be no use of profanity by any club member
- The ANA provides equal opportunity to all persons without regard to color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, age, sexual orientation, or other legally protected status. As a club member you and your child share in the responsibility for assuring that, through you and your child's personal actions, the policies are effective and apply uniformly to everyone
- The ANA strives to provide an educational environment that is free of discrimination, intimidation, hostility or other offenses that might interfere with learning. In keeping with this desire, the ANA will not tolerate any unlawful harassment of students, mentors, or members by anyone. Harassment consists of unwelcome conduct of any kind that is based upon a person's protected status, such as color, disability, gender, national origin, race, religion, age, sexual orientation, or other legally protected status
- Interactions should be focused on the project listed above

Any violations of the foregoing policies shall be reported immediately to the ANA's education department. As a parent, we ask you to check-in with your student before and after they submit any photos.

Sincerely,

Christian Strayhorn

ANA Education Director
