

Numismatist/Cataloger

CNG is seeking to hire a numismatic cataloger to work on location in our Lancaster office cataloging coins for our electronic and feature auctions. Experience with ancient coins or history is required. Experience with world and US coinage, an academic background in history, or experience in the numismatic trade would be a benefit but not necessary for consideration.

Applicants should be detail oriented, capable writers who are eager to learn and explore the many areas of coinage and history.

About Us

CNG is the premier auctioneer of ancient, world, and British coins in the United States and one of the leading firms worldwide, with offices in Lancaster, PA, London, England, and The Hague, Netherlands. CNG handles around 35,000 lots per year across electronic and live auctions, as well as retail sales.

Responsibilities

- Cataloging coins for electronic auction and feature sale, including grading, valuation, and attribution.
- Writing historical notes and stories for auction lots.
- Customer communication as needed.
- Print catalog proofreading and editing.
- Occasional events, shows, and auctions outside of regular office hours.

Benefits

- Competitive compensation
- Health insurance
- 401k
- Employee stock option plan

Qualifications

- Bachelor's degree
- Experience with ancient coins or history
- Creative writing ability
- Detail oriented
- Strong organizational skills
- Experience in grading or valuation is a plus
- Eagerness to learn
- Ability to relocate to Lancaster, PA

Interested applicants should supply a resume, short snippet about themselves, references, and a writing sample to Bill Dalzell, Managing Numismatist (billd@cngcoins.com).